Extension Workflow & Planning 160 users

Overview

Live dashboard for Claude.ai — tracks session & weekly limits, 7-day history, cost per chat, and custom usage alerts.

Claude Usage Dashboard gives you a clear, real-time view of how you're using Claude.ai — so you never run out of quota mid-task.

See exactly where you stand: the popup shows your current session (5-hour) and weekly limits as clean progress cards, with reset countdowns and a warning banner when you're close to the cap. An inline chart plots your peak usage across the last 7 days, so you can spot patterns and plan heavy work around your quota.

Key features:

- Live usage cards — Session, Weekly, Sonnet Weekly, Opus Weekly, and Extra Usage, all with reset timers
- 7-day history chart — peak session and weekly usage, with hover tooltips for each day
- Conversation tracking — persistent list of your most expensive chats, sortable by cost, length, or recency
- Custom alerts — get a browser notification when any limit hits

- your chosen threshold (e.g. "notify me at 80% session")
- JSON export — download your full usage history for backup or external analysis
- Clean, native-feeling UI — matches Claude's theme in both dark and light modes

Works with Claude Free, Pro, and Max plans. All data stays local in your browser — nothing is sent anywhere except Anthropic's own API (which the extension only queries for your current limits).

Built on top of the open-source Claude Usage Tracker by lugia19, extended with a full dashboard, history tracking, cost per conversation, and custom alerts.
